What Role for the Permanent Court of Arbitration Today?

On the occasion of the launch of ASIL's Howard M. Holtzmann Research Center for the Study of International Arbitration and Conciliation

Monday, February 11, 2013
New York University School of Law - Furman Hall - Room 210
245 Sullivan Street New York, NY

6:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m.

The American Society of International Law and the Center for Transnational Litigation and Commercial Law at NYU School of Law are pleased to announce a keynote, panel discussion and reception on the occasion of the launch of ASIL's new Howard M. Holtzmann Research Center for the Study of International Arbitration and Conciliation with featured speaker Hugo H. Siblesz, Secretary General, Permanent Court of Arbitration, The Hague.

At its founding in 1899, the Permanent Court of Arbitration was an innovation and stood unique in the field of international dispute resolution. The ensuing century has seen the rise of a number of other institutions with overlapping jurisdiction and specialized capacity in interstate, investor-state, and commercial dispute resolution. What is the continued viability and particular role for the PCA in today's world?

This gathering will feature keynote remarks by PCA Secretary General Hugo H. Siblesz and a distinguished panel of experts to grapple with this question.

KEYNOTE: Hugo H. Siblesz, Secretary General, Permanent Court of Arbitration

MODERATOR: Donald Donovan, Debevoise & Plimpton

PANELISTS:

Michael Reisman, Yale Law School
Garth Schofield, Permanent Court of Arbitration

REGISTRATION: Free to all
