

SIAC-NYU School of Law Seminar

Challenging Fundamental Notions of International Arbitration

Thursday, 25 January 2024 | 2.00pm - 6.00pm SGT
Maxwell Chambers (Elgin Crawford Room, Level 2), Singapore

Join us as we explore the fundamental features of international arbitration to establish the extent to which their commonly understood role corresponds to reality and is justified from a theoretical perspective; and, to the extent that they are not, how they should be reconsidered, taking into account modern practice and the expectations of various stakeholders.

As there are limited spaces, seats will be made available on a first come, first served basis.
